Young farmers sow future

BY STEPHANIE DOYLE
news@hclocal.com

A group of farmers hopes to establish themselves as agricultural leaders in Henry County – and are trying to fulfill that dream by forming a new club called Henry County Ag Connections.

Although some of them already knew each other, the 10 guys bonded during the most recent leadership program at the Henry County Chamber of Commerce.

"It really was the brainchild of Steve Moore, Henry County Cooperative Extension, and John Logan Brent, Henry County Judge-Executive," said local dairy farmer Curtis Coombs, a member of the new club.

Originally, the idea was to have a young farmers group, but they decided to expand the concept to be open to beginner farms and farmers who want to learn and be proactive on their farms, said Coombs, who breeds cows at his dairy operation, Jericho Acres Dairy in Smithfield. He also grows corn for silage, alfalfa and tobacco.

"It's basically a young farmers club but it's aimed at connections – we're just looking for members who want to learn more," Coombs said, adding that there is no age limit for members. "I think our main goal is just to have us be the future agricultural leaders in the county."

The group is planning their first meeting for 6:30 p.m., Thursday, Jan. 14, at the Henry County Cooperative Extension office, 2151 Campbellsburg Rd. in New Castle. Kentucky Department of Agriculture's Policy Specialist Warren Beeler will be the featured speaker.

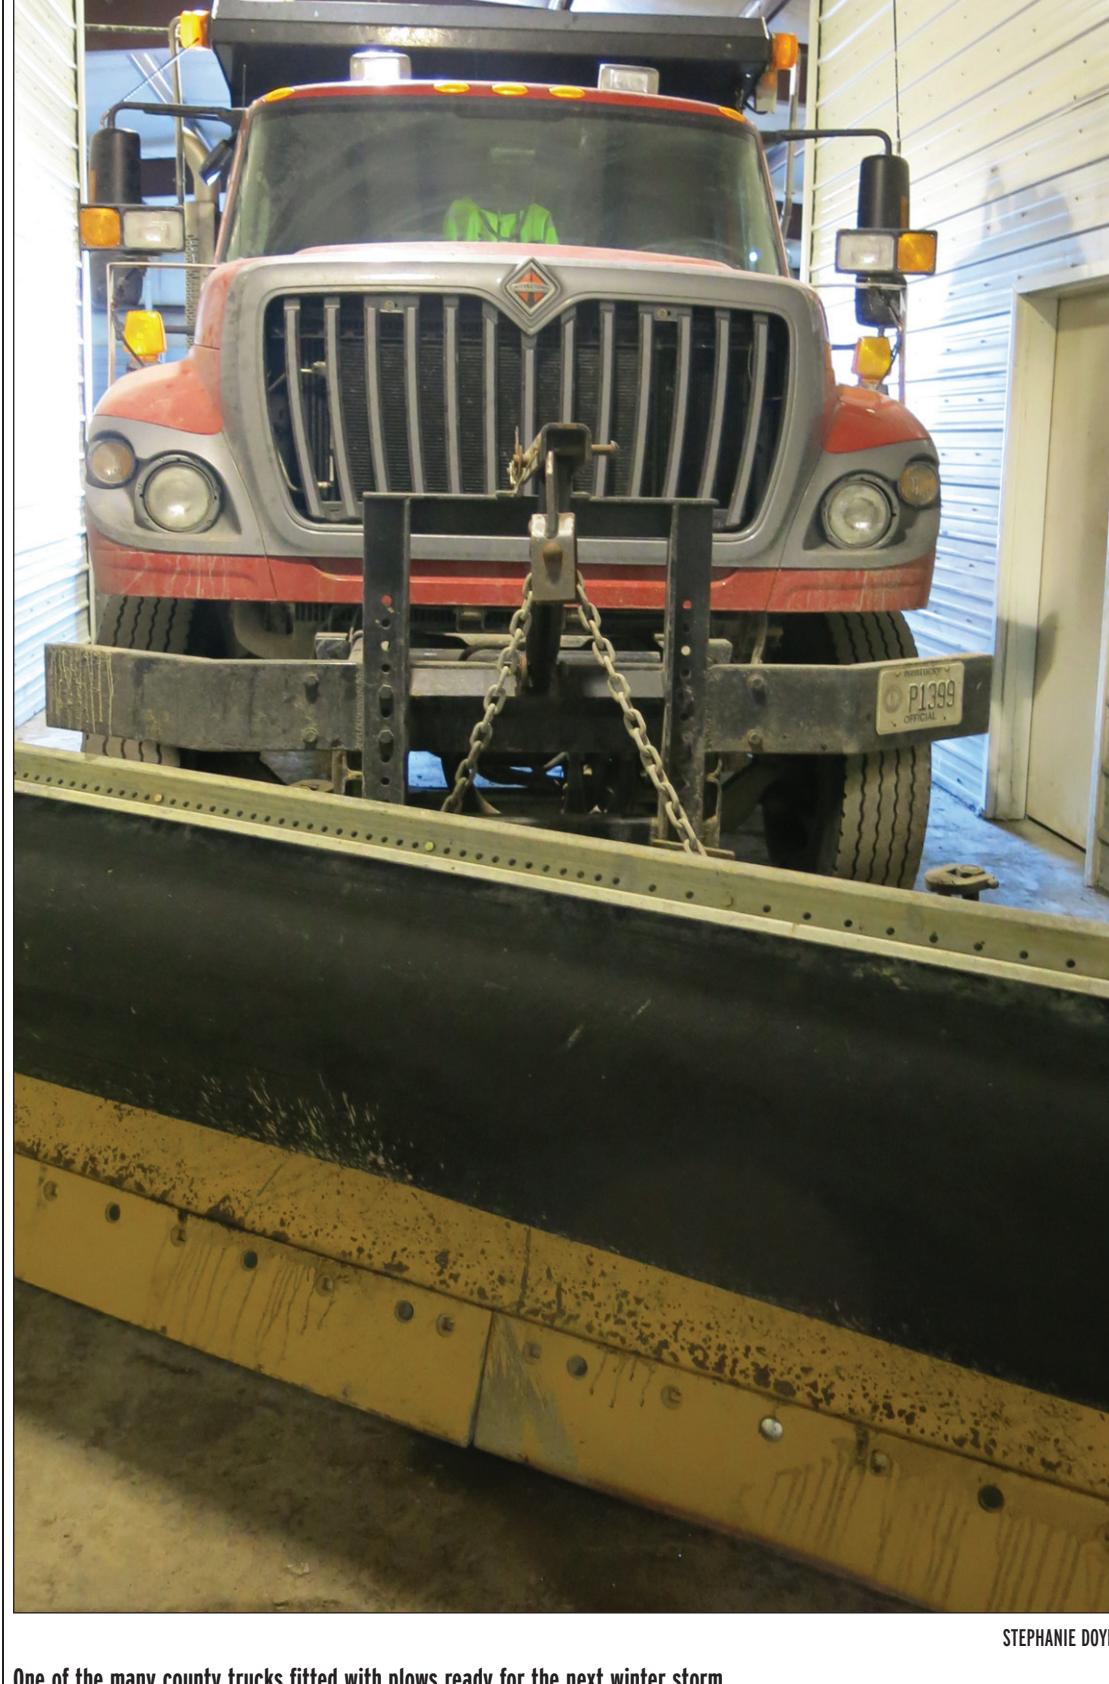

"I'm sure there will be a great discussion of current issues in agriculture," Steve Moore said.

Members of the group so far include cattle, dairy, tobacco and grain farmers.

"With the average age of farmers in Henry County rising to 58 years in the latest census of agriculture, it

The Henry County Road Department went through 50 tons of salt and 300 tons of cinders – all before Dec. 21, the official start of winter.

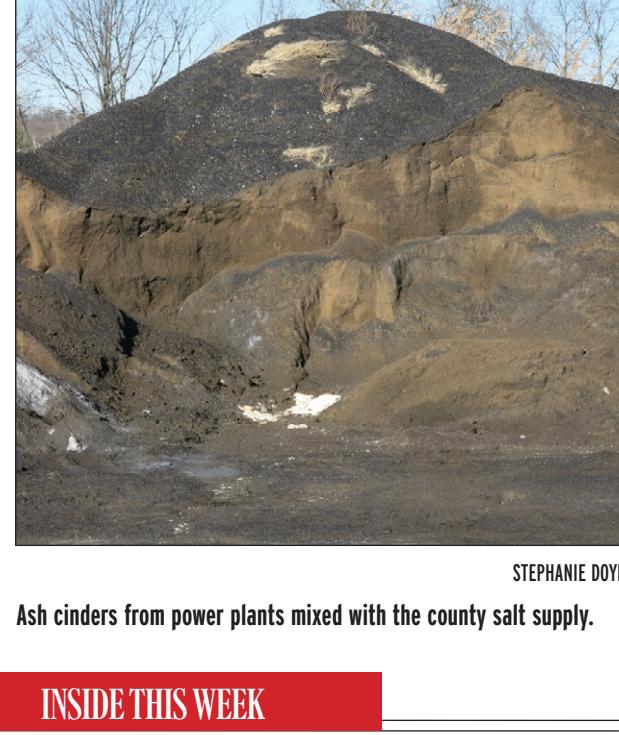

"We haven't usually used any this time of the year," said Glenn Baxter, head of the Henry County Road Department.

It was 40 degrees and sunny – with temperatures expected to climb even higher later in the week – when Baxter walked through the storage area in New Castle where the eight trucks are kept – seven with plows and one without. Nearby, snow plow blades sat along Property Road, taking a break from snow and ice storms earlier in the month.

"We cover 200 miles of county roads," Baxter said. "And we have a storage supply of 150 tons of salt. With that, we could go over all of the roads four times."

After that supply runs out, more bulk rock salt is ordered from Central Salt in Louisville, and can be on hand in a couple

Two missing after car chase

BY BRAD BOWMAN
editor@hclocal.com

Two black males escaped on foot after wrecking a vehicle involved in a car chase spanning Henry and Trimble Counties this weekend.

At 2:04 p.m. Sunday, Kentucky State Trooper Mitch Hazelett clocked a 1999 white Chevy Monte Carlo speeding at 102 mph on I-71 near Campbellsburg. While in pursuit, the vehicle jutted off of Exit 34 and headed toward Bedford.

According to Trooper Hazelett, the vehicle turned down Starks Lane and pulled an evasive maneuver on the Cardinal Hills Golf Course property damaging the part of the grounds. The vehicle headed back toward the interstate, but lost control at the intersection of Rose Hill Road and KY 421.

Three black males ran from the vehicle across a creek and fled up a nearby hill. With the assistance of seven troopers and a canine unit, Hazelett located one juvenile at the 1000 block of Sulphur-Bedford Road. The other two males are thought to be a juvenile at approximately 16-years-old and an adult approximately 18 to 20-years-old.

"The car was stolen from a Thornton's gas station on Dixie

History saved at auction

BY BRAD BOWMAN

A historical marker commemorating the Low Dutch Colony who settled in Henry and Shelby Counties will return to Henry County after it had been missing for more than 30 years.

By pure chance browsing an auction website, two descendants of the Low Dutch Colony from Kentucky were tipped off that a Daughters of The American Revolution plaque commemorating the Low Dutch Company, a part of the Low Dutch Colony, was up for auction in Campbellsburg. Amalie Preston of Mercer County contacted historian and descendant Vince Akers of Indianapolis two days before the

A look into my crystal ball for 2014

JOSEPH yates
Average Joe

My predictions starting with January 2014 will include 'Duck Dynasty' patriarch Phil Robertson, in an episode that was recorded before his infamous GQ interview, announces that he is converting to Islam. Before anyone could say "Allah Akbar!" the folks who had signed the petition demanding that Phil not be suspended from the show lit up the switchboards at the A&E television network to say that, on second thought, never mind, we're cool with A&E's initial decision. Facebook immediately goes dark.

Later in the month, Miley Cyrus, surrounded by dancing Smurfs wearing Nazi helmets, twerks completely naked at the Grammy awards. Dad Billy Ray Cyrus changes name to Billy Joe and jumps off the Tallahatchie Bridge.

Not only KET but Fox News and MSNBC cover the first debate between Sen. Mitch McConnell and Democrat Allison Lundergan Grimes. Matt Bevin is excluded because, in the words

March

For the first time in its history, the Screen Actors Guild bestows an award retroactively. At the 86th Academy Awards, Louisville native Jennifer Lawrence wins her seventh Oscar, a best actress award for her portrayal of the "Third Angel on the Left" in her middle school Christmas pageant.

April

UK and U of L play each other in the NCAA men's basketball championship. Gov. Steve Beshear blows any pretense of bipartisanship during the nationally televised pregame show by saying, "I ain't runnin' for another [bleepin'] thing the rest of my life, so why in the heck should I fake being torn between these two teams by wearing some silly half red and half blue sport coat like some other sissy governors before me have? Sit in the Louisville section? That's Abramson's job, ain't it? I was only nice to people in Jefferson County 'cause I wanted their [bleep] votes." He closed with "I'm from Dawson [bleepin'] Springs, and that's about as far as you can get from Louisville and still be in Kentucky."

In the final McConnell-Grimes debate, McConnell says something like: "noun, verb, death-panels." Grimes responds with "noun, verb, when Clinton was president." McConnell: "... Obama, Obama, Obama." Grimes: "did you say 'Obama' or 'Yo Mama'?"

The debate deteriorates to the extent that McConnell challenges Ms. Grimes to arm-wrestle him in the parking lot. She accepts and pins him quickly.

Television ratings are almost as high as the O.J. car 'chase' in '94.

May

Challenger Matt Bevin squeaks by incumbent Mitch McConnell in Republican primary election for Senator and immediately demands a recount. Democrat Allison Lundergan Grimes wins in a landslide over a retired college professor and a can of Barbasol.

August

The University of Kentucky football team begins its 2014 season with a 41-3 loss to the University of Tennessee at Martin, a tiny school that is part of the Tennessee state university system. The school has less than 7,500 students and its athletic department actually lets real students participate in some of the sports programs. Coach Stoops does not board the bus back to Lexington after the game. Law enforcement considers him a missing person until he is discovered at Christmas in a Knoxville homeless shelter possessed by the ghost of

Bear Bryant and mumbling "but they always gave Rupp a Cadillac."

October

Hundreds of thrifty but hard of hearing shoppers in Kentucky and West Virginia gather to protest Obama's "War on Kohl's." "They sell good stuff cheap," remarked Darlene Druthers of Moonpie, Kentucky. "That man just don't like nuthin' good," said Delbert Wayne "Cooter" Pressley of Generalee, West Virginia.

November

Bevins wins and demands another recount. Senate is now split 50-50. House of Representatives still controlled by Republicans.

December

House takes daily vote to repeal Obamacare and makes it a misdemeanor to say "Happy Holidays" instead of "Merry Christmas" to another person if the speaker "knew or should have known" that the recipient of the greeting believed in Santa Claus.

2015 looks bleak indeed.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Our greatest generation

Four weeks ago today I attended the memorial service for my uncle, Kenneth Bratton, a member of the greatest generation.

Sixty nine years ago today he was fighting in the deadliest battle our nation had ever seen, the Battle of the Bulge. This battle resulted in over 85,000 US casualties, with over 19,000 dead.

The battle began on December 16, 1944 and lasted a little over a month until January 25, 1945.

By Christmas day 610,000 US troops were committed to the fight. The weather was some of the worst

Europe had seen in years. The snow was deep and the frozen

dead were stacked up like cord wood.

Kenneth was a

green inexperienced

soldier. He was 21 years old, born and reared on a farm in southern Illinois. He had not been a part of the D-Day invasion at Normandy. He had not fought in the hedgerows. He had arrived in Europe following that action.

On the third day of the fighting, he and two other men in his platoon were separated from their unit. For two weeks they wandered behind enemy lines. This may have been fortunate for them. When they did find their way back to their unit, most had been killed. Only a few had survived.

I am appreciative when I think of my uncle and those of his generation. They fought for our freedom and many paid the ultimate sacrifice. Many have died since in Korea, Vietnam, Afghanistan, and Iraq.

They returned from the war, married, raised families, and worked hard to make our country great.

We have benefited

Because of their efforts we became a strong

Constitution means nothing to judges who render opinions contrary to what Madison, Hamilton, and the other framers of the Constitution intended when it was written.

Threat of lawsuits by individuals and groups have caused schools, cities, and private businesses to discontinue decade old practices. Christmas cards made by school children could not be given to veterans at a VA hospital because it violated VA policy concerning things relating to Christmas.

The list goes on and on.

I doubt Washington's soldiers at Valley Forge that starved and froze to death during the winter of 1777-1778 or my uncle and the soldiers in Belgium on this day in 1944 would understand what has happened to our country and the freedoms they fought and died for.

HISTORY

Made of bronze, the two were certain the lost plaque would be sold for scrap and never be seen again.

"It was our moment of serendipity. My friend Kyle Riley, an avid history buff and collector of antiquities, was browsing the auction website and this caught his eye," Preston said. "Knowing that it would be of interest to me, (Preston is a descendant and member of the DAR) he contacted me. We knew it would be gone the next day and we don't know if this is the original 1939 marker or its replacement."

The DAR have placed at least two markers on U.S. 421 bolted to millstones donated by Union Capt. I.N. Johnston of Pleasureville. The markers have a history themselves of periodically being stolen.

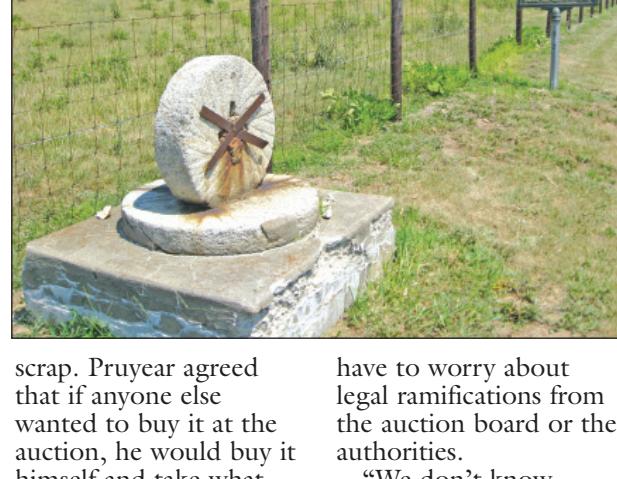

According to Maude Johnston Drane's 1948 History of Henry County, the DAR installed the first plaque in 1939 near the reconstructed Low Dutch House between Pleasureville and Defoe now operated as Sweet Home Spun. The plaque stated, "This site marks the religious and civic center of the Low Dutch Colony which purchased 6,800 acres from Squire Boone in 1786 to become home to 34 families." In 1943, the plaque was stolen. The Bland/Ballard DAR chapter dedicated a new plaque. According to the book, the stolen plaque was later, "...found in a junk heap in Frankfort." According to Akers, the last dedicated plaque was stolen in the 1970's and he wasn't going to let this plaque, stolen or not, get lost. He emailed Preston.

"I looked up Mike's Auction's website and see that their store is open 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. today. I've decided to just get in the car and drive down and get this marker," Akers wrote. "I'll donate it to the DAR and/or HHS or whoever will see it returned and displayed in Henry County. It's four-hour drive, so I'm leaving now. If anyone has a better idea or any other information, please call me."

Akers has done extensive research on the Low Dutch Colony. Akers' written work, "The Low Dutch Company: A History of the Holland Dutch Settlements of the Kentucky Frontier" has been published in the Holland Society of New York's De Halve Maen and appears in books, newspaper articles and brochures in Shelby and Henry Counties. He aided in identifying the Low Dutch Meeting House and gave historical insight to its reconstruction as the present Sweet Home Spun.

A direct descendant of the Low Dutch Company, Akers' mother was a Demaree and he still has cousins living in the area of Defoe and Pleasureville.

"Amalie and I decided maybe it's better to go there in numbers so we went in force," Akers said. "She was going to investigate the legalities of whether it was stolen and what could be done about it. I got to the auctioneer's place. I showed Mike Pruyear, the owner, where the plaque came from and he was perplexed. He had an obligation from the estate that he was auctioning it from. It was part of a 40-year collection. I'm glad he advertised it — and thank God he did. Otherwise, we wouldn't have found it."

Pruyear couldn't agree to sell it to Akers and Preston since he had advertised it as part of the next day's auction. Akers said he would pay $200 for the plaque if someone bought it as scrap. Pruyear agreed that if anyone else wanted to buy it at the auction, he would buy it himself and take whatever monetary loss came from bidding. Pruyear shook on it and kept his word.

"I knew that anyone that had a historical interest in it would want it sent back to Henry County where it belongs," Akers said. "Mike thought it would bring maybe $200 if someone bought it for scrap. In the end, it only cost $185. Amalie picked it up that Saturday at his house and it will end up back in Henry County."

Akers said everyone seemed relieved. Preston and Akers secured the missing marker, saved it from possibly getting melted as scrap metal and the auctioneer didn't have to worry about legal ramifications from the auction board or the authorities.

"We don't know whether we have the 1939 marker or the one found shortly after in a junk pile in Frankfort," Akers said. "We don't know if we have the stolen one or one that a DAR member might have kept in their house after the plaque was replaced. The important thing is it will eventually end up in Henry County. A lot of families connected to the Low Dutch Colony bought farms nearby in the area."

In his research, Akers took separate property deeds from the company's dissolution in the 1830s and connected the sections on a topography map. According to Akers, the Low Dutch Colony, which purchased the land as the Low Dutch Company, was one of the most neglected histories in our nation.

"The research is part of my family's history and I find it fascinating that they had a settlement like this," Akers said. "These people came out to Kentucky to stay separate from other settlers, but that didn't happen. It took them so long to locate the land. Dozens of them had died from Indian attacks. Abraham Banta, the first trustee of the company, he purchased the land from Squire Boone. Almost everyone who is a Banta can trace their lineage back to him and Father Henry Banta who was the ruling patriarch back to 1780."

The Dutch families who came from the Netherlands to New Amsterdam wanted to spread out from New York and New Jersey. The Banta family has origins from Epke Jacobs who came to America in 1659 and the Demarees came to America on the boat Bontekoe in 1663, according to records researched by Akers. By 1765, families migrated to Conewago, Pennsylvania and by 1769 migrated to Berkeley County, Virginia. The Conewago families called themselves Low Dutch to set themselves apart from the 'High Dutch' who were Germans.

Low Dutch family members fought in the Revolutionary War and started scouting out Kentucky by 1779. By 1786, Abraham Banta signed for, as first trustee of the Low Dutch Company, 5,945 acres from Squire Boone. Lots were drawn in 200-acre increments and the company existed until 1830.

For Akers, the plaque is yet another piece of the neglected history of his family's and the county's history.

"To get the plaque back to the millstones or meeting, $185 is a small price to pay," Akers said. "And it was a nice day for a drive."

Preston is currently seeking guidance from the DAR for direction on where to place the plaque for future generations.

Long before iPods, Xbos and Playstations, Sarah Foree and her family enjoyed the simpler things during the holidays.

Foree and her brother Tom would anticipate Christmas with expectations not filled with images of the latest electronic gadget or fancy clothes dancing in their heads, but the time they spent together as a family preparing for the holidays.

Foree, now 95, has trouble seeing recipes she used over the years to make candy and cakes, but she hasn't lost sight of the ingredients that made for a merry Christmas and a good life.

"One of our favorite times I like to talk about is the preparation we had for Christmas," Foree said. "We looked forward to Christmas because it was the one time of the year we got to have the fruitcake we made. It's a joke now. People joke about the dried fruitcakes people buy and give each other at Christmas, but ours wasn't like that. The highlight of the season for us was making preparations for the fruitcake."

Sarah Foree, 95, stands in front of some her antiques including a rare grape deseeding in her home on Fallen Timber Road.

Foree grew up in Sulphur and rode in a horse and buggy to school before the family bought a car. Her mother would walk to the Sulphur Grocery Store and purchase the special ingredients for the cake.

"She would buy all kinds of dried fruit that came in crates. We had dates, figs and dried cluster vine," Foree said. "Everyone had a job and their own fruit. My brother, mother and I would sit by the fireplace that had an old grate on it and we would sit there cutting up the fruit. We had hickory nuts we got off of our hickory tree. We would break them up and put the kernels in there."

The next day Foree's mother prepared the dough: six eggs, flour and sugar.

"She put other spices in it now that I don't remember," Foree said. "She would mix up that dough, it wasn't a lot of dough, and she mixed the fruit in with it. She would put the cake in a cake pan in a lard can with water underneath it and cook it with steam."

The recipe called for several pounds of fruit, which resulted in about a 10-pound fruitcake, Foree said. The family enjoyed the seasonal cake — a delicacy her and her brother only enjoyed once a year.

"Back then that fruitcake was our treasure. You didn't just take a slice off of it and let it dry out. We took care of it," Foree said. "It's much different than the fruitcake you get now. That cake you get in a store is dry as a bone. Children have lost something that was dear to us when we were children. You looked forward to Christmas for the least little thing and were appreciative of it when you got it. Kids don't even think about doing those kinds of things now or appreciate what they have.

They just tear through their presents and toss them in the corner — moving on to the next one. You knew you were going to have that fruitcake whether you got anything else for Christmas or not."

The quality of time and material things should matter more than the quantity of possessions for Foree. She applies the same principle to living a good life.

"People spend too much time and money living beyond their means — having things they really can't afford," Foree said. "We worked hard for what we had and we didn't just get rid of it if it broke down. We learned how to fix things, or found someone that did, and we took care of them. I'm thankful that I can still remember those things. Everything today people want to talk about is called a 'new technology,' but there's a lot of lessons people can learn from the past."

Years ago in Henry County

Hammer Smith

In January 1814, the attorney for the County Court of Henry County filed the following information concerning a murder that occurred in the County.

On Jan. 15, 1814, America, a slave who was the property of Little Berry Wells of Henry County, was charged with murdering Nicholas, a slave who was the property of John Evans, a resident of Henry County. America was charged with preparing and administering a poison to Nicholas, causing his death.

At the Jan. 1814 term of court, John Ransdell, Morgan Bryan, Jr., John Perry and Daniel Sanford, Sr. were appointed by the judge to serve on a committee to view an alteration proposed in the road running from John Violett's unto the Sullinger Warehouse Road, about seven miles from the warehouse, to and Richard Hood, Lieutenant Colonel.

It was ordered by the court that Richard W. Shockency be paid $2 for his services in conveying the infant children of Wm. _____ to the county poor house.

On Jan. 17, 1839, James Kelly and his wife Eliza of Boone County, Missouri, sold 45+ acres of land lying on the waters of Drennon Creek in Henry County to Robert Neile for the sum of $600.

In January 1864, the following letter from the files at the History Center, was written on Jan. 20, 1864, by LaFayette Wright while he was a prisoner of war at Camp Douglas in Ohio to his wife Phebe in Campbellburg:

Dear Phebe and children,
I thank God that I have the privilege of corresponding with those whom I love fervently and desire to benefit by helping to procure the necessities of life, but can not on account of my condition, but I hope to be released soon by taking the oath of allegiance to the United States which I can do with a clear conscience believing it to be my duty, you wish to know if I need any clothes? My clothes are sufficient for winter and should I want anything I will let you know. You sent me 50 cents, which I received and for which I am very thankful although you needed it worse than I and I hope you will not send me anymore unless I call on you. We are only permitted to write every 13 days, therefore you cannot hear from me often. Dick Roberson is not well but is going about. I saw Will Miles yesterday. (He met Roberson and Miles while in prison. They were from Kentucky and survived the war.) He was well and told me to let you know he wanted you to write to him. I have no news to write. The weather has been extremely cold here, which you are aware of. Tell Mr. Greenwood, Robinson and Miles the reason I have not written to them is because I have not the stamps and paper nor the money to buy with. Tell them my thanks for all the favors they have done and I hope they may prosper throughout life. Tell George Orr and Mildred I had the same reason for not writing them, and I hope God may bless them in this life and the life to come (LaFayette died in the prison hospital on Aug. 16, 1864).

SALT

of days. The cinders — ash that comes from power plants after they burn coal — don't melt the snow, but help provide traction. Baxter said they mix a third of salt with two thirds of cinders.

While salt costs about

$54 a ton, the cinders cost "close to nothing," he said. "That's why we mix the salt and cinders — for economic reasons."

The Henry County Road Department clears county roads. To view a map that shows how county officials prioritize snow and ice removal, visit <http://1.usa.gov/190YNKZ>.

Another group of people in Henry County, armed with snowplows, work up to 16-hour shifts covering more than 220 miles of state roadway.

"During weather events, all 12 state employees are on duty during the day," said Andrea Clifford, spokesperson for the Kentucky Transportation Cabinet. "We split the crews up during the overnight hours so everyone can get some rest. So from 4 p.m. until midnight, there is a six-man crew on duty and then the shift changes at midnight. The other six men come in to cover the time from midnight until 7:30 a.m."

If needed, two contract trucks — they salt and plow Interstate 71 — also operate during these hours.

Along with the pair of contract trucks, there are eight state-operated trucks.

The state workers use sodium chloride (salt) and calcium chloride to help melt snow and ice. Calcium chloride is sprayed onto salt pellets to help melt snow and ice at lower temperatures.

"Salt is good down to about 23 degrees," Clifford said. "Calcium chloride can melt precipitation down to 0 degrees."

During last year's winter weather events, from Dec. 21 to March 26, Henry County used 2,028 tons of salt and 8,405 gallons of calcium chloride. So far this winter, from just Nov. 26 to Nov. 12, the state has used 763 tons of salt and 4,390 gallons of calcium chloride.

FARMERS

is refreshing to see a nice group of young people establishing themselves as farmers and leaders," Moore said. "Already, they are a bright and well-informed group, and are rapidly becoming involved in many facets of agricultural leadership including the Henry County Agriculture Development Council, the fair board, the Cattlemen's Association, the Farmers Market

Association, the Extension Council, and Farm Bureau, just to name a few."

"I am personally very excited to be able to work with this group as they seek to find ways to be successful in agriculture," Moore said.

CHASE

Highway," Hazelett said. "We were unable to locate a stolen firearm associated with the vehicle."

The juvenile was detained in Campbell

County Detention Center and scheduled for hearing in Henry County District Court Monday.

The chase resulted in a county wide alert for Trimble County residents as law enforcement searched for the two escapees.

BROWN

Emily Bryant led Warriors with 8 points in win over Brown.

score at 28-28 to set up Ethington's heroics.

"I think we were capable of winning by more, but we had several players out due to injuries, illness or personal reasons," Adair said. "We started two seventh-graders and an eighth-grader and we didn't have much bench."

"Emily Bryant did a good job. She had eight points and got some big rebounds but she hurt her leg in the last seconds of the game. We won't know the extent of the injury until tomorrow (Saturday)."

Adair was pleased with the play of his point guard.

"That situation is tough for anybody," he said. "But for Emily Ethington, a seventh-grader, to step up and hit those free throws was great."

"Our young team faced adversity with injuries and everything else, but they didn't back down and that is good to see."

Heritage Academy 39 EHS 29

The Warriors faced Heritage Academy in the opening round and found themselves down early.

"In the first four minutes we got off to a bad start and were down 8-0," Adair said. "But we came back and got within 11-8 early in the second period."

The Warriors cooled down offensively for the rest of the period and ended the half trailing 17-10.

The Warriors came storming back in the third period, outscoring Heritage 9-3 to close within a point at 20-19.

But the fourth period belonged to the Eagles as they outscored the Warriors 19-10 to pull out the 10-point victory.

"We lost focus a little bit and let it slip away," Adair said. "Brooklyn Moore had a good game. She scored 10 points and really played well. Her improvement since we started is impressive."

"Emily Ethington did a good job at the point."

They pressed and mixed defenses and she handled it well."

Beth Haven 51 EHS 30

The Warriors faced even more adversity on Saturday as they took on host Beth Haven without Bryant who was not cleared to play after injuring her leg in the Brown game. Adair said that tests showed nothing was broken but she needed to undergo further evaluation before returning to play. Jasmine Adams also missed the game for personal reasons leaving the Warriors with six players to take on the Lady Bearcats.

The Warriors started well in this game, which Adair said was a nice change.

"We've been talking about how important the first four minutes are and we came out and played well early and knocked down a couple of shots," Adair said.

Beth Haven made a run late in the quarter to lead 15-9 going into the second period.

"We played okay until midway through the second period," Adair said. "They went on a run and led 28-18 at halftime. We started to tire at the end of the half and got beat in transition several times."

Beth Haven added five points to their lead in the third period to lead 37-22 going into the final frame.

The Warriors had one last run in them.

"We cut it to 37-26 early in the fourth period but Taviana West got in foul trouble and had to sit for a long time and we had to play with five people," Adair said.

Beth Haven finished the game with a 14-4 run as the Warriors ran out of gas down the stretch.

"Madison Docktor played well in this game," Adair said. "She was more aggressive on the offensive end. It was her best game of the season."

The Warriors young point guard, Ethington, made the all-tournament team.

Emily played well all the way through the tournament," Adair said. "She played consistently throughout the tournament, especially for her age."

Adair was proud of his young team for showing character in the face of a lot of adversity.

"I thought they played hard with all the adversity we faced with people being out and especially on the last day when we only had six players. They really impressed me with how hard they played."

said. "In the second half we got into their bench and started attacking the basket. In the second half we did a better job of not reaching and grabbing."

Welch praised the play of a couple of starters and his team's strong bench performance.

"Austin was huge for us," he said. "He had 24 points in three quarters of play. We made a point of resting guys because we had four games in three days. We feel like we have quality depth and we don't always have the same guys starting. Nacona was huge. He crashed the boards; he attacked the rim and he had several outstanding passes."

"Landon New did a good job of penetrating their zone and getting some buckets. Coleton came off the bench and gave us a spark and Brad came off the bench and did a good job."

HCHS 82 Western Hills 73

On Friday afternoon the Wildcats got a battle from a team they routed in the second game of the season. The Wolverines shot much better in this matchup after managing only 19 points against the Wildcats in the first game.

The first period was played at breakneck pace and the Wolverines were able to hang close as the Cats led 23-17 going into the second period. The Cats were able to take advantage of their superior height to get 14 points from their inside players, Nacona Jeffries, Austin Young and James Wundrak, in the period.

But the Wolverines were encouraged by their offensive output in the opening period as they scored just two points less than in the entire previous game.

The Wolverines out-scored the Cats 18-14 in the second period to pull within two points at half-time, 37-35.

Western Hills opened the second half with a 3-pointer to take the lead and then got a steal and layup to go up three.

But Jeffries got a steal and layup and Brad West hit a 3-pointer to give the lead back to the Cats at 42-40 with 6:21 to play. The teams battled back and forth with the Wolverines taking their final lead at 50-48 with 3:03 to play in the third period.

The Wildcats went back to their inside game to reestablish control as Young and Wundrak scored on a variety of inside moves and the Cats finished the period on a 12-4 run to lead 60-54 going into the final period.

The Wildcat run continued into the fourth period with the Cats stretching the lead to 70-58 with 5:33 left. Western Hills continued to hit big shots to stay within striking distance, but in the end they had no answer for the Cats' superior height and depth.

"We played a team that was much improved from the last time we played them," Welch said. "As much as you tell your team not to overlook them, you know, we beat them 61-19, it still happens. But we got great inside play from James and Austin with 23 and 21 points."

"They are a scrappy team and they came into this tournament and played well," Welch said. "We really battled with them all night and pulled away at the end and I'm really proud of the effort."

HCHS 59 LaRue Co. 50

The Wildcats took on the LaRue County in the final game of pool play in the tournament with a chance to go undefeated and face Bishop Brossart in the finals of the tournament on Friday.

The Wildcats got a tough test from the Hawks and needed a strong defensive performance in the second half to pull out a come-from-behind victory.

In the first half the teams traded buckets until the Hawks went on a 6-0 run that culminated in a 25-18 lead with 5:14 left in the second period.

The Wildcats got a couple of baskets to pull within three at 3:11 before the Hawks went on a 12-3 run to open a 12-point lead with 19.5 seconds to go.

Wundrak's inside basket at 2.5 seconds pulled the Cats to within 10 points going into the locker room.

The Wildcats looked like they were headed for defeat unless they could figure out how to stop the Hawks offense.

In the second half they did just that. The Cats abandoned their full court press and played a half-court zone defense that completely befuddled the Hawks.

But the Cats also struggled on offense, scoring just 10 points in the third period to the Hawks' five. However, that put the Cats within striking distance and they dominated the final period by outscoring the Hawks 23-8.

"We pressed them in the first half because that's what we do," Welch said. "We like to get in people's faces and play up tempo, but they were just handling it so well that they were shooting layups."

"We decided at half-time to go with the zone to give them a different look and to get a quick stop and get back in the game. We could tell they were frustrated with our zone so we made a couple of adjustments but stuck with it the rest of the game and were able to hold them to 13 points in the second half."

Bishop Brossart 67 HCHS 55

The Cats played the Bishop Brossart Mustangs in the championship game on Saturday night and ran into a team that had too much balance and poise to be rattled.

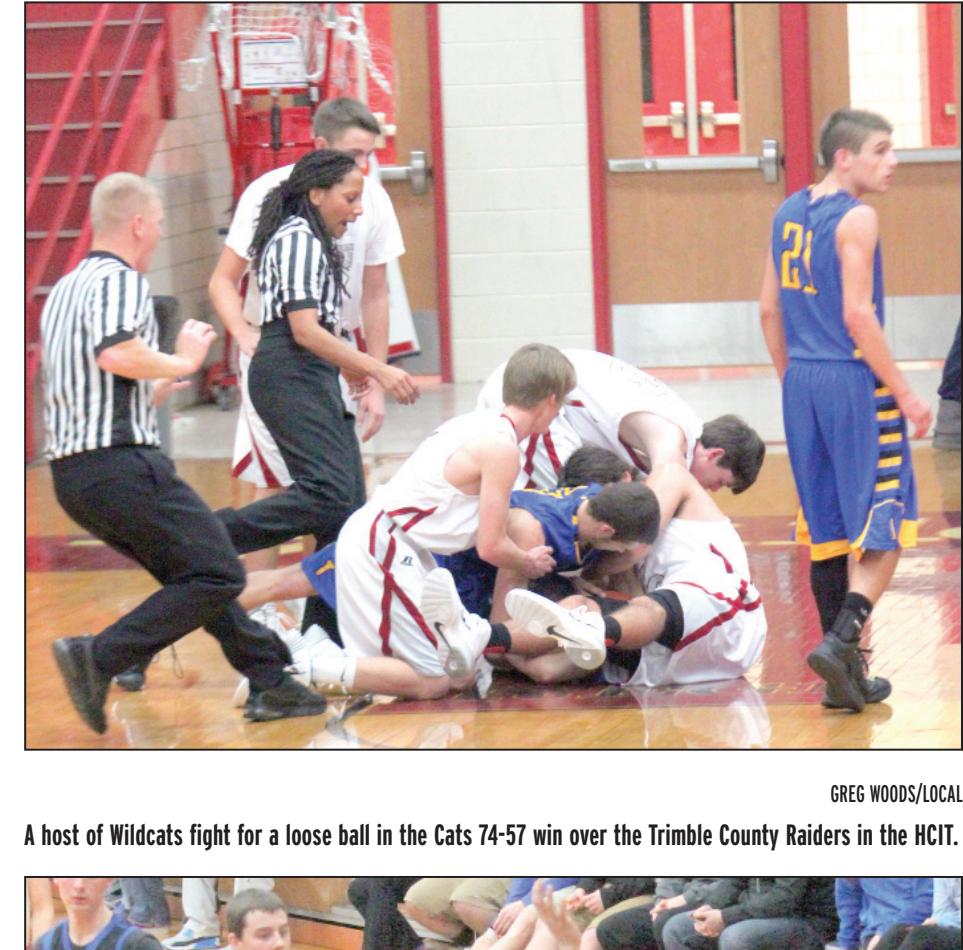

But the Cats played with enthusiasm and energy and hung in against the impressive Mustangs, who came into the game with only one loss to 9th Region power Covington Holmes.

The Cats fell behind after one period 16-7 as Brossart established their inside game with 10 points in the paint. The Cats had several good looks that didn't go down and were unable to stay close.

But in the second period the Cats' shots began to fall and Brossart got into serious foul trouble as the Cats attacked the basket with drives and passes to the post. At halftime the Cats had pulled within two points at 26-24.

The Mustangs came back out and got a put back to open a four-point lead and the game stayed a two to four-point game throughout most of the period before the Mustangs went on a 7-0 run late to go up 44-34. Landon New hit a driving lay up at the buzzer to pull the Cats to within eight going into the final period.

The Mustangs began the final period with a 9-2 run to open up a 15-point lead at 53-38 with 5:35 to play.

The experienced Mustangs then used a patient offense and good free throw shooting to keep the Cats at bay and win the H.C.I.T. title.

The Cats fought hard to get back in the game but never got closer than eight points down the stretch.

"We knew playing

Brossart was going to be a daunting task," Welch said. "They are a very good, senior-laden team. They are 6'7" and 6'8" up front and have very solid guards. I thought our bigs did a good job of attacking their inside players and getting them in foul trouble. We wanted to press them and get their point guard tired but we couldn't do it. He handled it well all night.

"You just can't give a team as disciplined as Brossart the opportunity to get into their delay game," Welch said. "They are going to execute it and not let you back in it and that is what happened when we missed a couple of free throws and were down two before they went on that run to open the fourth quarter.

"Austin had a monster game with 17 points inside and fouling out their 6'8" player. Landon New did a good job of attacking the rim, especially in the second half.

"Jalen was sick for the first two games of the tournament and really wasn't himself," Nethery said. "He had to ask out of the game a lot because he had no energy."

Lady Cats compete in Raceland tourney

BY GREG WOODS
sports@hclocal.com

The Henry County Lady Cats found themselves in a huge hole to start the game against the host Raceland Lady Rams on Thursday night in the first round of the Ohio River Classic, but came back to get a hard-fought 40-38 win to advance to the semifinals of the winner's bracket on Friday against Russell.

"We looked like we hadn't practiced in two days and then got on a bus and rode three hours," said Coach Todd Gilley. "We had more turnovers than shot attempts in the first quarter. At one point in the second period we were down 15."

The Lady Cats trailed 13-4 at the end of the first quarter and 22-10 at halftime.

But the Cats came roaring back in the second half to make a game of it. The Lady Cats opened the second half by cutting five points off the lead and then, according to Gilley, "just kept chipping away from there."

The Cats finally got the lead in the middle of the fourth quarter only to see the Lady Rams get some good fortune.

"Right after we took the lead, they came down and banked in a 3-pointer," Gilley said. "They had six threes for the game and three of them were banked in."

The 3-pointer restored Raceland's momentum as they followed up with two free throws and an inside bucket to go up by five points with 1:40 left in the game. After a timeout the Lady Cats reasserted control over the game. Cheyenne Clark who led the Cats with 17 points hit a 3-pointer to bring the Cats back within two points.

On the next possession there was a "mad scramble for a loose ball under our goal," according to Gilley. "Haley Bramblett came up with it and was on one knee with nowhere to go. I was about to call timeout when Haley found Megan Payton under the basket for an easy shot to tie the score. It was a huge play."

On the next play Sophie Hughes came up with a steal to give the Cats possession with a chance to win the game.

"We came down with no panic and no hurry and worked the ball around, and we found Megan open for a 12-foot jumper with 2.2 seconds left," Gilley said. "They got a contested three at the buzzer that didn't go in."

"They just reached down deep and found a way to win the game," Gilley said. "We had four different players step up and make big plays when we needed it. Cheyenne's 3-pointer, Haley's loose ball recovery and assist, Sophie's steal and Megan scored the final four points to win it. Nobody is waiting for someone else to step up. Ashton Pennington had some big buckets in the third period when we were making our comeback. They were all stepping up to make sure we won."

Russell 42 HCHS 36

The Lady Cats took on Russell in the semifinals of the tournament and found themselves playing without the services of post player Megan Payton after she injured her knee in the second period.

The Lady Cats were even with Russell after the first period at 6-6 but the Red Devils took advantage of the fact that the Lady Cats other inside player, Colleen Coomes, had

The Eminence Warriors opened the Pine Mountain Classic on Friday against Middlesboro and fell to the Yellowjackets 75-66.

After getting off to a slow start that saw them fall behind 13-7 after one period, the Warriors fought back to within two points at 30-28 going into halftime 21-17 in the second period.

The Warriors took the lead in the third period after falling behind by seven points. After getting up by four at 40-36 the Yellowjackets went on run to regain the lead and then used good free throw shooting to pull away for the nine-point victory.

"We played well against Middlesboro," Coach Chris Nethery said. "They played a lot of zone and 1-3-1 half-court trap and Jake McKinley and Trevor Payton handled it well by knocking down shots making good passes. They got to the line a lot more and that was essentially the story of the game."

The Henry County Wildcats hosted the Trimble County Raiders Thursday night in the first round of the Henry County Invitational Tournament and came away with a 17-point victory after a tough first half that saw the Raiders claw back to within striking distance on several occasions.

But the Wildcats' depth took a toll in the second half as the Raiders foul trouble and lack of depth began to show.

Austin Young led the way for the Wildcats with 24 points. Nacona Jeffries and Coleton Anesko came off the bench to contribute 11 and nine points, respectively. Landon New and Brad West used good free throw shooting to contribute 12 and eight points to the Cats' cause. New and West were both 6 for 6 from the line in the game as the Cats hit 20 of 26 free throws for the game. Trimble County was 12 of 23 from the charity stripe.

Young was nearly unstoppable in the first half with a variety of inside, outside and medium-range baskets to total 17 points. He added seven points in the third quarter and then watched most of the fourth quarter from the bench as Jeffries and West took over the scoring load with six points each in the final frame.

The first quarter was evenly played with the Cats creeping out to a 15-10 lead with 1:04 to play before Trimble hit a 3-pointer to pull within two points with 22 seconds to go. Anesko hit two free throws with one second remaining to give the Cats a four-point lead going into the second period.

The Cats scored the first six points of the second quarter to take a 10-point lead early in the second period. The teams played evenly after that until Trimble County went on a 8-1 run to pull within two points at 29-27 with 1:55 left. The Cats closed with a 5-2 run to take a five-point lead into halftime.

Young and New opened the second half with layups that extended the lead to nine points at 38-29 with 6:38 left before Trimble scored two buckets in a row to pull within five again with 6:01 left.

The margin stayed between five and seven until the Cats went on a 9-2 run to close out the period and take a 13-point lead going into the final period. The final dagger in the run was a 3-pointer from Jeffries on a nice drive and dish by New at the buzzer.

The Cats had the first possession of the final period and ran 49 seconds off the clock before Jeffries leapt high in the air for a put back to make it a 15-point game with 7:11 left.

The Cats' managed their lead well down the stretch playing mostly with a four-guard lineup and increased the lead by two more points before time expired.

"In the first half we were really settling for one pass and taking off-balance shots and we hit a couple of them and so we drank the Kool-Aid and took a lot of bad shots," Coach Enoch Welch

The Eminence Warriors girls' basketball team won their first game of the season Friday against the Brown Lady Bears in the second round of the Beth Haven Holiday Classic.

The Warriors overcame a short bench due the absence of three players for various reasons and pulled out a two-point victory, 30-28.

The Warriors sealed the win when Emily Ethington hit two free throws with five seconds to go give the Warriors the lead. Brown could not answer those free throws in the final seconds and the Warriors' young team celebrated a victory.

The Warriors started slow and found themselves down 5-0 early in the first quarter.

"We missed a ton of open shots early which put us in a hole," said Coach Zach Adair. "But we came back and tied it 8-8 early in the second quarter."

The Warriors continued their hot run the rest of the way and outscored the Lady Bears 12-4 in the second period to take a 14-10 lead into halftime.

"We pressed them man-to-man in third quarter and got up 21-10," Adair said. "Then they started breaking the press and got back within two points by the end of the quarter. Emily Ethington, our point guard, got in foul trouble and was out for a four or five minute stretch and that really hurt us."

The final period saw the Warriors go up 25-22 but Brown came back to tie the
